Pickets Walk At Newberry State Hospital

NEWBERRY (AP) — Protesting what it calls unsafe conditions for female attendants at Newberry State Hospital, a state employes union planned to continue today the picketing it started in freezing weather Friday.

Four attendants have been suspended for refusing to get unescorted to check an unlocked cottage housing 50 of the hospital's "very best patients," said Richard Cameron, hospital superintendent.

The women attendants fear, not the patients, but the possibility of outsiders coming in to the unlocked Cottage H. said Robert Grosvenor of Lansing, director of the Michigan State Employees Union.

Footprints in Snow
Calling it "an extremely serious situation," he asked Gov. George Romney Friday to help resolve the dispute. He then came to this Upper Peninsula town to confer with local union leaders.

Cameron said checking Cottage H was a matter of crossing about 40 yards through an enclosed, lighted corridor which connects it with another cottage. The suspended employees previously had been checking the cottage, he said.

Cameron said rumors started when footprints were seen in the snow nearby, but "I investigated carefully and didn't feel the situation was unsafe." He added officials knew who made the footprints.

Grosvenor, whose union claims to represent 275 of the 580 employees at the 1,500-patient hospital, said off-duty employees began picketing in eight-degree-below-zero weather Friday and have signed up for regular shifts to continue the demonstration at the hospital's main gates.

Not Playing Games
"They wouldn't be out in this weather unless they're gravely concerned," he said. "If they wanted to play games they'd wait until summer."

Grosvenor said one of the suspended employees, Mrs. Faye Gribble, told him when she reports back to work she would again refuse to go along to check Cottage H.

Cameron said the union's grievance over the matter was the first grievance filed in the 2½ years he has been superintendent.

He said the grievance was being proposed according to civil service procedure, but the union "is acting as if it would be substantiated."

Dr. Robert Kimmich, director of the Department of Mental Health, declined Wednesday to intervene in the case.

Revenue Service Checks On Tax-Exempt Societies

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Internal Revenue Service has mounted a major drive against politically minded organizations that enjoy tax-exempt status—and most of the fire is being concentrated on outspoken right-wing groups.

An IRS spokesman said today the agency's rule against discussing individual cases also applies to organizations. However, the identity of a few of the organizations under investigation was learned from other sources.

They range from the tradition-steeped Daughters of the American Revolution to new organizations which have few followers outside their areas.

Putting Out Propaganda
Why the emphasis on the right side of the political spectrum? "We believe we've already done a good job of weeding out the left-wing organizations," an IRS spokesman said. "The leftist outfits have been under surveillance for years. Also, we have more complaints on the ultra-conservatives."

In most cases, the organizations are accused of putting out political propaganda while wearing a philanthropic, religious or educational label.

Only a few of these organizations have any income which could be taxed, but their special tax status is highly prized. As long as they are classified as tax-exempt, their donors can deduct their contributions from their personal income tax.

The several million dollars that would be collected in taxes if these organizations lost their tax-exempt status would be small compared to the potential revenue that could come from another contemplated treasury move: a revision in the law to restrict the money-making operations of some foundations.

Up To Congress
This move would be up to Congress and is not related to the drive on the political interest groups. A recommendation to Congress will come in the early months of 1965.

In the campaign against the use of a tax-exempt organization for political purposes, the IRS has stepped up the rate of examinations from 2,000 a year to 10,000.

Some groups under fire from IRS have said that if their tax exemption is removed, then the government should take similar action against the National Council of Churches and all groups that ever took a stand on any issue.

In reply, an IRS spokesman said, "the law states that a tax-exempt organization must devote a substantial part of its activities to charitable, educational, religious or similar activity. A tax-exempt organization is not supposed to try to influence legislation. Perhaps a good many organizations pass a resolution now and then but their main function is still non-political."

A congressional hearing uncovered an IRS crackdown on Life Line, an organization which has received several million dollars from oilman H. L. Hunt of Dallas to finance radio and television broadcasts.

Also, the Rev. Billy James Hargis of Tulsa, Okla., revealed that his organization, Christian Crusade, was removed from the tax-exempt list by IRS. He plans a court fight.

One of the better known right-wing organizations, the John Birch Society, is not an IRS target. It has never asked for tax-exempt status.

Historic Order Issued Friday At White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — A historic presidential order has opened the way for a new Atlantic-Pacific canal to replace the Panama Canal within 10 to 15 years.

The new canal is to flow at sea level through Panama or a neighboring country, and will probably put the old passage-way with its expensive locks out of business.

The troubled 1903 treaty with Panama is to be scrapped soon in favor of a new pact which the United States hopes will heal old wounds while the original canal becomes a relic of bygone days.

New Treaty Proposed
President Johnson went before television cameras Friday to read his landmark announcement that the United States will now "press forward in earnest" to achieve the long discussed goal. He announced:

1. Secretary of State Dean Rusk will start talks with three or four countries which have potential canal sites — Panama, Colombia, Nicaragua and perhaps Costa Rica — looking toward agreements with any interested in obtaining the new route. Then on-the-spot engineering surveys will be made in those countries signing agreements to decide which site is best.

2. "An entirely new treaty on the existing Panama Canal" will be proposed to Panama to replace the half-century-old pact that gives the United States Canal Zone rights "in perpetuity."

The new treaty would retain U.S. rights needed to run and protect the present canal, but it would recognize Panama's sovereignty.

Rioting Recalled
U.S. control of the 10 by 50-mile Canal Zone strip as exercised under the 1903 accord would end when the new canal opens.

Friday's announcement climaxed lengthy talks between the United States and Panama begun after the bloody anti-American riots there last January. Panama's president Marco A. Robles hailed it as "a historic day" for his country.

The announcement also marked a turning point in the years of deliberations over building a second trans-oceanic waterway for security and for the growing ship traffic already starting to clog the present canal. Johnson noted that 300 modern vessels which have been or are being built are too big to pass through the canal when loaded.

The broad aim of the U.S. move is thus to solve in a combined package both the recurrent political troubles with Panama and the physical need for a new canal.

Cost Only Guesswork
What the new canal would cost is a matter of guesswork, with estimates ranging from $750 million to about double that amount depending on the site and excavation methods. The old canal cost $380 million and went into operation 11 years after the treaty was signed.

Johnson said there seem to be four possible routes — two in Panama, one in Colombia and one in Nicaragua which may go through Costa Rica too.

The 95-mile Colombia route would parallel the Atrato River. Colombia's public works minister Friday night said that sparsely populated route would be best because atomic explosives could be used to excavate inexpensively.

The Nicaragua route of some 140 miles would veer across the Costa Rican border south of Lake Nicaragua to avoid draining the large lake at heavy economic loss to Nicaragua.

The 59-mile Sasardi-Mori Panama route would traverse comparatively flat and undeveloped land. Also in the running is the present Panama Canal. U.S. officials said the main chance in converting it to sea level would be digging out the Gaillard Cut which is now a high point.

Guard Scandal Hearings May Tie Up Romney

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George Romney could find himself tied to the judge and jury chair for days or even weeks—and thus hampered in handling other state business—when National Guard scandal hearings finally begin.

At a recent conference Romney dismissed a question about how much time he might have to devote to the hearing he has called.

With much of the hearing detail yet to be worked out, no one can say what will happen, but knowledgeable sources concede the governor might well be spending plenty of time listening to evidence.

Last Oct. 8 Romney fired three top guard officers after revelations of a land, money and liquor scandal.

Two of the three, Maj. Gen. Ronald McDonald and Brig. Gen. Carson Neifert, demanded hearings. Eventually, after a dispute between Romney and Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley, they were reinstated—then immediately suspended pending the hearing.

McDonald had been adjutant general and Neifert quarter-master general.

Kelley's office is now preparing the formal statement of charges against the generals. It's expected to go to the governor next week—or at least before the end of the year.

Governor In No Rush To Reveal 1965 Program

LANSING (AP)—Democratic legislators may be racing to get their program before the people before Republican Gov. George Romney announces his—but Romney does not choose to run.

Democratic leaders have said repeatedly they expect Romney's program and theirs to be similar. Some have expressed a fear that they will end up passing a program that would show glory on Romney.

One of them, House majority leader Bob Traxler of Bay City, has proposed drafting and publication of a Democratic legislative platform to prevent the Republican governor from upstaging them.

The proposal is now under study by the Democratic State Central Committee.

State Chairman Zolton Ferency, however, has urged the legislators not to be too concerned over who gets the credit for legislation passed in the coming session.

Romney is not going to break out of the normal schedule for announcing his program, said Jack McIntosh, aide to the governor for legislative liaison.

It will be spelled out in the state-of-the-State and budget messages as usual, said McIntosh.

McIntosh is the man responsible for guiding Romney's program through the legislature last year, getting most of what he wanted and disposing of legislation that could have caused Romney trouble in his re-election bid this year.

"If both sides let the people of the state know where they stand, so much the better," he said. "We'd welcome it."

"In the long run, the people will not remember who said what, but what was actually done," he added.

Presenting a platform or statement of position is one thing, but developing it into a detailed program backed by legislation is a long, hard task—one that can't be rushed, he said.

The anticipated similarity between Romney's and the Democrats' goals and methods could result in a legislative session of relative harmony and progress, representatives of both sides have said.

"I would not be surprised to see a fairly peaceful session," McIntosh said.

'Fanny Paddle' Brings Lawsuit

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — A novelty device known as the "Fanny Paddle" which at times serves in place of father's hand on the seat of the problem in misbehaving children, may appear here in U.S. District Court.

Mrs. Mary H. Dorman of Traverse City, who claims to hold the copyright to this instrument, filed an infringement complaint Friday.

Named defendants in the action are Enco, Inc.; Goldfarb Novelty Co.; Jan Vonderhe, doing business as Jan's Gifts of Mackinaw City; Ben Franklin store, and F.W. Woolworth & Co.

Her suit charges that the defendants have manufactured or sold a paddle similar to the one she created as a novelty device with copyright registered Feb. 15, 1955.

Mrs. Dorman seeks an injunction from further alleged infringement and asks that the court direct that all copies of the novelty "be delivered up for destruction."

Soviets Reject UN Finance Deal

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union reportedly has rejected a compromise proposal by General Assembly President Alex Quaison-Sackey of Ghana for settling the U.N. financial crisis.

The rejection was reported by diplomats Friday night, on the eve of another round of talks on the subject between U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

They scheduled a working luncheon at Rusk's New York hotel suite.

The United States "could swallow" Quaison-Sackey's proposal, the diplomats said, but the Soviets were against it. Some African, Asian and South American delegates also opposed the proposal, they added.

It called for setting up a voluntary fund to overcome the U.N. insolvency caused by the Soviet Union's refusal to pay its share of peacekeeping operations in the Congo and the Middle East.

A 12-nation Asian-African committee representing the 59-nation Afro-Asian group has been promoting its own plan for settlement of the financial squabble.

state only vaguely that money paid into the voluntary fund would be spent for general U.N. purposes, the diplomats said. The Asian-African plan came closer to saying the money would go to wipe out the U.N. deficit resulting from refusal of the Soviet Union and others to pay their peacekeeping assessments.

The Russians had indicated a willingness to contribute to a voluntary fund provided it was not identified with the peacekeeping costs. Their objection to Quaison-Sackey's plan was not detailed by the diplomats.

Keweenaw Area Reports 8-Foot Snowfall So Far

HOUGHTON (AP)—The snow measuring station at Delaware in Keweenaw County reported 100.7 inches of snow had fallen this season by Thursday morning.

This was the greatest amount reported by this date in almost 85 years of recording. At this date last year, only 52.1 inches had fallen.

One hundred inches of snow is more than eight feet.

Brown Staying As Treasurer

LANSING (AP)—State Treasurer Sanford Brown said Friday "I'm staying on" to help keep Michigan government running smoothly during transition from the old to the new Constitution.

And outgoing House Speaker Allison Green hinted he might accept a turn as state auditor. Green could take the place of incumbent auditor Billie Farnum who is expected to resign by Jan. 4 when he becomes a congressman.

Statements from the two men followed opinions handed down by Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley Friday on how to solve some transition problems until the legislature or Gov. George Romney reorganizes the executive branch of the government according to terms of the Constitution.

In effect, Kelley ruled that Brown, a Democrat, can continue as auditor general after Jan. 1 when his term would have ended. In saying he'd stay on, Brown added "what else can I do?"

Kelley has ruled in a letter to Romney that the present offices of treasurer and auditor general must continue on an extended-term basis until reorganization of the executive branch into 20 major departments or until the powers and duties of the offices are abolished.

The incumbent treasurer and auditor general have the right to retain their offices during this period, Kelley ruled.

Republican Green, expected to be named treasurer by Romney, can be appointed to succeed Farnum. Then, when reorganization is complete and he loses his auditor's hat, he can be appointed treasurer.

Ex-Convict Held In Cafe Killing

NILES (AP) — Ex-convict Charles Albertson remained in the Berrien County jail today under a number of felony charges in Friday's holdup slaying of a cafe patron and a woman's abduction.

Albertson, 33, parolee who police say has served time for rape and burglary, is accused of murder, attempted murder, armed robbery and kidnapping.

Police said that Albertson when arrested declared he was "too drunk" to remember what he did.

Witnesses said Albertson, armed with a shotgun, invaded the cafe about 2:30 a.m., shot and killed Louis C. Ehninger, 35, a patron, and abducted Mrs. Ardis Darling, 28, fleeing by car with money from the cash register and from another patron.

Mrs. Darling, divorcee and mother of two children, was held captive for seven hours before police found and seized Albertson north of the city with the aid of Jack Jacobs Sr., gasoline station operator. Albertson had sought help from Jacobs for his stalled car.

Mrs. Darling was treated at Pawating Hospital here and released.

Rep. Ford Makes Bid For House GOP Leadership

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Gerald Ford of Michigan told colleagues today he is out to replace Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana as House Republican leader.

Other Republican House members received telegrams from Ford saying "Today I am announcing my candidacy." Earlier, he had planned an announcement to be made in Sunday morning newspapers.

There were some reports, meanwhile, that supporters of Halleck and of the embattled GOP national chairman, Dean Burch, were forging an informal alliance to keep both men in their jobs.

Ford, 51, said in his telegram to other House Republicans that "during the next two years our performance as Republican congressmen will have a great impact on the future of our party."

He has been under pressure to try to depose Halleck in an effort to give the House leadership a younger and more vigorous image.

Ford did not mention Halleck who is 64, in his telegram. Ford and Halleck have similar conservative voting records.

The telegram announcing his candidacy said, "I am convinced that our House Republican talent, energy and dedication can and must be utilized fully if we as a party are to better represent and promote the best hopes of the American people and if we are to become a majority party."

Meanwhile, former Postmaster General Arthur Summerfield of Michigan is in the vanguard of a group of influential Republicans — some of them closely associated with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower — who are reported working to prevent the ouster of either Burch or Halleck at this time.

Eisenhower Neutral
The impending fight for the House leadership parallels the struggle for control of the National Committee, where Burch is battling to keep his post.

But those backing Ford say there is no connection between the two outer moves.

Halleck is on vacation. His aides say they believe they have the votes to turn back any challenge to his leadership.

Eisenhower, meanwhile, appears to be maintaining a neutral position in both instances. He said Friday in California where he is vacationing he is taking no part in the dispute over Burch, does not plan to attend the National Committee meeting in January in Chicago since he is not a member and added: "Anyway, I haven't been invited."

He described Burch as "a very smart and capable young man."

Will Fight For Job
Summerfield offered a resolution adopted unanimously Friday by the 20-member National GOP Finance Executive Committee praising Halleck, Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, and congressional campaign leaders Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky and Rep. Bob Wilson of California for their "strong, effective leadership and unwavering loyalty to the Republican party."

The resolution — only one of its kind members could recall the finance group ever adopting — called on Republicans to "give these leaders their steadfast support in the trying circumstances certain to be encountered in the 89th Congress."

Burch told the finance committee members in a closed session that he offered earlier this week to resign but Sen. Barry Goldwater, the defeated presidential nominee who picked him for the job, told him he wanted him to continue.

As a result, Burch said he plans to fight "and may go down with flags flying" at the Jan. 22-23 National Committee meeting.

Racket Boss Bonanno Alive

NEW YORK (AP) — The attorney for Cosa Nostra boss Joseph (Joe Bonanno) Bonanno says his client, who disappeared during a purported kidnapping on Park Avenue two months ago, is alive and will appear Monday before a federal grand jury.

The lawyer, William P. Maloney, told a news conference Friday that he received a telephone call shortly before noon from Bonanno's son, Salvatore.

"I was told," Maloney said, "that Bonanno is in good health, and that delighted me."

Maloney said he was present shortly after midnight last Oct. 21 when two gunmen forced the elder Bonanno into a car. He said one gunman fired a single shot at him before the auto sped away.

Bonanno disappeared hours before he was to appear before a grand jury investigating organized crime.

Area, Region Show Gains In Bank Business

Bank debits in Escanaba during November were up 2 per cent from the same month a year ago, according to statistics released by the Federal Reserve Bank of Minneapolis.

In dollars, Escanaba's bank debits volume for November was $15,351,000. In the same month of 1963 the total figure was $15,081,000.

The gain in Escanaba was even greater for the first 11 months of the year compared to the same period in 1963, the report shows.

To Dec. 1 this year (for 11 months) Escanaba's bank debits totaled $170,147,000 and was 3 per cent above last year's $165,529,000 for the same period.

Bank debits for the most part are checks against depositors' accounts and thus represent payments for goods, services, debts, and so forth. They also include transfers of funds which of themselves have no business significance. Generally they are recognized as an indication of the economic situation of an area or region.

The Upper Peninsula's gain of 3 per cent for the first 11 months of the year was equal to that in Escanaba—but the gain for the U. P. in November was 5 per cent, 3 per cent better than Escanaba.

Escanaba retained second place in the volume of bank debits in the Peninsula both for November and for the year. Marquette was first in volume with $21,557,000 for November and $235,532,000 for the year.

Sault Ste. Marie was in third place with $151,466,000 and Iron Mountain was a close fourth with $143,748,000 for the first 11 months of this year.

Marquette rate of gain for the year was 6 per cent, Escanaba was 3, Sault Ste. Marie showed no change, and Iron Mountain was up 6 per cent.

Other communities in this area:

Menominee up 12 per cent for the month and 3 per cent for the year; Manistique up 2 per cent for November and 6 per cent for the year; Gladstone down 3 per cent for the month and 2 per cent for the year; Hermansville up 7 per cent for the month and for the year.

GOOD DEED by the men of St. Thomas the Apostle Church in Escanaba included this work on the home of Rose Gorerchen, 617 N. 19th St. The men (from left) James Boyer, Bud Freisels, Fr. Donald Shiroda, St. Thomas assistant pastor, and Bill Gerou, were part of the crew that repaired and redecorated the home. (Daily Press Photo)

What Is Future Of Area Schools If Millage Fails?

Tuesday, Dec. 22, voters of the Escanaba Area Public School District will cast ballots on a proposal asking 4.5 mills for five years for school operating expenses. This is the last of three articles dealing with the election and the financial situation of the Escanaba Area Public Schools.

By DAVE ANDREWS

The question first in mind with approach of Tuesday's special school millage election is, "What if the proposal fails?"

What then? Will the school system collapse?

There is no accurate way of predicting the ultimate affect defeat of the proposal might have on the school system until after the fact. There are too many "intangibles."

What affect would defeat have on school morale?

How many teachers, unwilling to jeopardize family future on another election, would resign to take other jobs?

How many college graduates would apply elsewhere for teaching positions?

How would defeat affect the community? Its image?

Will North Central Association accreditation, already on a "second warning" basis because the system hasn't hired needed counselors for the high school, be lost?

What about the school's athletic, music and special education programs? Indeed, what about the regular program?

School Will Continue

To say that the Escanaba Area school system would collapse would be to underestimate the character of its administrators, teachers, personnel and Board of Education. Many of Escanaba's school people have gone through similar episodes before.

There is still revenue of $1,439,186 anticipated for next year. It is possible that the State Legislature will increase the state aid formula. School of some form will always continue.

But the deficit of $125,323 from this year will not go away and next year's projected budget for what Supt. of Schools Luther M. Barrett called "normal" operation is $198,474 above anticipated receipts. The total deficit would be $323,797.

Already, the uneasiness and insecurity financial trouble breeds is beginning to creep into the workings and personalities of the school system.

MEA Concerned

Tom Hughson, a junior high school teacher and president of the Escanaba District, Michigan Education Association, said teachers here are "deeply concerned" about the entire situation.

"Some teachers are definitely leaving, regardless of the outcome of the election, because of the uncertainty of the situation," he said. "With others there seems to be indecision and unrest because they don't know where they stand."

"Even what the Board is asking won't bring the system up to the level it was several years ago. We're still going downhill," Hughson said.

Stephen C. Baltic, high school principal, said the school has already received its second warning on accreditation from the North Central Association because of its failure to provide adequate counseling.

"We were supposed to have corrected this situation this year and we haven't," Baltic said. "Typically, if a problem isn't corrected after second warning accreditation is dropped."

Baltic said the NCA would probably consider the Escanaba situation at its 17-state regional meeting in Chicago in March.

Proposed program cutbacks (if the millage request fails) would rake across the entire academic system, probably terminating with elimination of teaching positions at the elementary level.

Supt. Barrett, who drew up a projected budget for next year at Board of Education request, said that he sees "no alternative but staff reduction."

And before that would come, athletics, music and any special education programs which require district financing would probably be dropped.

"If you're going to have to reduce the basic program I don't see how you can justify an extra-curricular program," Barrett said.

If the Board of Education decided to cut back only to cover the estimated $198,474 deficit in next year's budget, Barrett made these suggestions:

1. Cutback $100,000 on operating (there are no specific figures, but the assumption is that this would include athletic programs, some phases of the music program, teaching supplies, maintenance costs, plant improvements, etc.);

2. Cutback $25,000 on custodians (reducing by that figure would eliminate 25 per cent of the system's janitorial jobs and consequently reduce care for school buildings, etc.);

3. Cutback $75,000 on teachers (this would mean a reduction of staff by 12 teachers and mean half-days for grades 3, 4 and 5.)

Changes Possible

Barrett told the Board of Education that he would rather have grade school children "on the streets" for half-days than to turn high school students loose half-days. He also said that he believed a full-time high school program is more essential than at the grade school level, if it comes to making a choice.

If the Board of Education elected to make up the entire $323,797 ($125,323 from 1964-65 and $198,474 from 1965-66) cutbacks would be increased as follows:

1. Cutback $150,000 on operation;

2. Cutback $50,000 on custodians (half of the staff);

3. Cutback $123,000 on teachers (a reduction of 20-22 teachers and half-days for Grades 2 through 6).

In making these suggestions to cover the school system in case of millage defeat Barrett did not specify further what would actually be cut, what teaching positions would be dropped.

"Situations change over a period of months," he said.

It could change Tuesday. Voters will decide.

Skating Rinks Almost Ready

City skating rinks are being prepared for winter use and continued cold weather should result in the official opening before Christmas. City crews will continue flooding next week and parents are reminded to ask their youngsters to stay off the ice until it is solid enough to hold their weight.

Surface areas broken by the children are not only difficult to repair but cause permanent rough spots which hamper skaters during the entire skating season.

Club 314 will be open for activities from 1:30 to 4:30 in the afternoons during Christmas vacation in addition to the usual evening hours. The city-sponsored youth center will be closed Christmas Eve, Christmas Day, New Year's Eve, and New Year's Day. Wednesday nights are reserved for the Golden Age Club and the Senior Citizens. The complete schedule follows: afternoons and evenings — Monday and Tuesday; afternoons only — Wednesday, Thursday, and Saturday.

Boys who played in the Babe Ruth League as 15-year olds last summer are asked to turn in their uniforms at Club 314 next week. Uniforms should be checked in clean and with the name of the player attached to the shirt.

ATTENTION TAXPAYERS

On October 7th, the schools said, that because of the President of the School Board being away, they would only discuss the Board vacancy and the school millage. Yet, with no one at the meeting to protest, they disregarded naming a man who was only 46 votes from winning in the last election. If the Board had something against Mr. Murray, this was a golden opportunity to appoint a township man (even the next runner-up, who was a township man.) By doing this, they would have demonstrated to the township folks that they had their interest in mind.

Instead, they appointed a man that had never run for the office, a man little known in this community.

They seem to take pleasure in antagonizing the people. Voice your displeasure.

ATTENTION TAXPAYERS

The School Board continues to do things that shatter the peoples confidence in them. Recall the appointment they recently made. Disregarding the man who lost in the last election by 46 votes.

Making all sorts of idle threats of curtailment and loss of accreditation if the vote isn't favorable to them.

Recently the Superintendent made a big to-do about a man locating his business in Manistique rather than Escanaba because of Escanaba's school troubles. He refused to divulge the man's name, but we believe that he refers to a man who is opening a Sears Order Store in Manistique. We already have a Sears Store here, so how could he locate here?

Have you heard the Schools say anything about Federal Government and State of Michigan's plan's of coming through with more money for the schools? No, they'd like that kept a secret.

Then too, where is all the information on school finances that the schools were going to present for this election? All one hears is that they need it. They haven't even told us what it costs to run and heat the new high school. Isn't this our right?

City Pursues Urban Renewal Project Plans

Escanaba's development of plans for a project under the federal Urban Renewal program has been outlined to the City Council by City Manager George Harvey.

"This office has been in communication with the Urban Renewal Agency in Chicago for the past couple of years, and the first of this year we concentrated our efforts toward securing an Urban Renewal Program," the city manager said.

"The first requirement is the preparation of a workable program for community improvement. We have been working on this since April or May and it has been reviewed by the Urban Renewal people and was returned to us a couple of months ago for further work. We are still working on putting it in shape."

Get Information

"The field representative of Urban Renewal was here in May and spent a day and a half with me looking over the situation in the downtown area. The next step is to bring Urban Renewal planners here so they can take a first hand look at the problem, after which they can give us a decision as to an urban Renewal project."

"The Urban Renewal planners will be in Escanaba about the second week in January, at which time we will get further information on this Urban Renewal matter," the city manager advised the Council.

Earlier this month Milton Embs, the manager's administrative assistant, conferred with Ross Loes of the Department of Economic Expansion on the question of securing federal aid under the Urban Renewal program, City Manager Harvey said.

The Urban Renewal office Chicago can advise on steps in preparing a Workable Program application indicating the preparedness of the city.

Moving Ahead

Loes told Embs that he had examined Escanaba's Master Plan and felt that Urban Renewal people would want a more detailed plan and a central business district study. Time is required for study, application and approval of plans and action might not be expected at the renewal site for two years.

The Escanaba City Council has authorized the manager to proceed with the establishment of a planning function and to include the estimated cost in the proposed 1965 budget.

The engaging of a consultant is being studied with the relationship of such a planning aide to other municipal administrative duties.

Meetings have been held with the Planning Commission and a retail committee of the Chamber of Commerce and their recommendations are being considered as a part of the planning program. Planning consultants will be interviewed as the study progresses.

Funds Granted

MIDLAND (AP)—Midland has been awarded $16,000 in federal funds toward a $32,000 Civil Defense warning system. CD officials here were told Friday.

THE GIFT that Santa cannot give — a pint of blood to the blood bank — wins Santa's gratitude to these donors: (from left) Mrs. Clarence Dittich, Brother Nicholas, Luther M. Barrett and Cecil Chase. Each will give a pint of blood at the Red Cross procurement clinic to be held at the First Presbyterian Church 2 to 7 p. m. Dec. 22. Those who want to join the list of donors are asked to call the Red Cross or come to the clinic on Tuesday. (Daily Press Photo)

Cook Headed For Treasury?

WASHINGTON, D. C. — President Johnson has asked Donald C. Cook, a long-time friend and former Escanaba resident, to become treasury secretary, according to Washington Post reports Friday.

Cook, who along with other business leaders was a White House guest of Mr. Johnson Friday, could not be reached for comment.

Former chairman of the securities and exchange commission, Cook would succeed C. Douglas Dillon, former investment banker, who reportedly wants to return to private business as soon as a successor can be found.

Cook is the son of Mrs. Nelson Cook, 517 S. 11th St., and is a graduate of Escanaba High School. He holds degrees from the University of Michigan and George Washington University.

Guy H. Ramsey Taken By Death In Minneapolis

Guy H. Ramsey of Minneapolis, former resident of Escanaba, died Thursday night following a brief illness. He was hospitalized one week.

Mr. Ramsey was associated for many years with the National Pole Co., and was widely known in the community.

He is survived by his wife, one son, and two grandchildren, all of Minneapolis.

Services are being held in Minneapolis.

Dial-A-Devotion Begins 6th Year

After an absence of six months Dial - a - Devotion is again being offered to the public. It is five years ago this December that this unique religious service was first offered in Escanaba.

Dial-a-Devotion is a one minute devotion recorded on a telephone answering device that may be heard any time of the day or night by dialing 786-6772. The devotion is changed each day, usually during the noon hour, so that the person calling once every day will hear a different message each time he calls.

During the period it was in operation from December of 1959 until last spring, nearly 1,000,000 calls were received by Dial-a-Devotion.

The Immanuel Lutheran Church of Escanaba provides this aid to devotion through the generosity of individual sponsors from the church and the public.

Small "Dial-a-Devotion reminders" with an adhesive backing are available by dropping a card to the Immanuel Lutheran Church.

Legion To Pack Baskets Dec. 23

Baskets full of Christmas cheer in the form of food, candy, nuts, fruit and other goodies will be packed at the Legion Club beginning at 7 p. m. Wednesday, Dec. 23, and all will be in readiness for Christmas Eve delivery.

Chairman C. Elmer Olson announced that members of the Legion and ladies of the Auxiliary will be on hand to do the work of packing and tagging the baskets. Dr. C. J. Corcoran will be in charge of the packing detail. Thursday morning Robert Olson and his assistants will take over the task of delivery.

The number of requests have been high this year and in many cases, where the family is large, sickness and unemployment spell out the need for help.

Contributions have been somewhat slow in coming in and the Legion has asked for help to make this community project a success. A donation will be a big help and greatly appreciated for the needy families, Chairman Olson said.

Poverty Study Starts In State

LANSING — Michigan got its War on Poverty organization moving at top policy level Friday with first meeting here of the State Human Resources Council appointed by Governor George W. Romney.

Edward L. Cushman, Dearborn, American Motors Corp. vice president, presided as chairman at the meeting which authorized him to appoint an executive committee which will develop a structure for the council and a program method.

Executive committee members named by Cushman to serve with him include: William P. Patrick Jr., Detroit, Michigan Bell Telephone Co.; Lynn M. Bartlett, state superintendent of public instruction; Irvin Bluestone, Detroit, administrative assistant to Walter Reuther, president of the United Auto Workers; Bernard N. Conboy, director, Michigan Department of Economic Expansion; R. Bernard Houston, director, State Department of Social Welfare; and Thomas Roumell, director, Michigan Employment Security Commission.

The council will meet next in late January to start its work of identifying Michigan's greatest needs in the creation of economic opportunities for the state's low income people and to start suggesting coordination of the work of agencies dealing with the problems of poverty.

Governor Romney said he had named a group of 30 persons representing the state agencies which will be working with the problem and of the economy, labor, welfare organizations, churches, and other elements. He stressed that the anti-poverty program will draw upon federal, state and local resources and he urged that it include the private or governmental sector.

He cited the need for coordination of efforts with so many agencies in the field and with so many overlapping jurisdictions, so that the effort can produce some real results and not deteriorate into a government political boondoggle.

Purchase Plan For Pinecrest Gets Approval

MEMONIEE—The Menominee County Board of Supervisors Thursday approved payment of $26,157 as its share in a tri-county purchase of Iron County's equity in Pinecrest Medicare Facility at Powers.

Delta and Dickinson Counties had previously approved payment and Iron County's Board of Supervisors had approved acceptance.

Total amount of the settlement—to be paid over a three year period—was $78,473.

Iron County had been a partner with Delta, Menominee and Dickinson Counties in operating Pinecrest as a Tuberculosis Sanitarium. When the unit was converted to a Medicare Facility in 1961, Iron County declined participation because it already had facilities of its own.

Suit was filed in Menominee County Circuit court by Iron County seeking recovery of its equity and it is expected that the court will award judgment of the County approved settlement. Representatives from each county board and county prosecuting attorneys met in November at Powers and agreed on the settlement figure, contingent on approval by all county boards.

Forest Blaze Curb Need Told

Marvin Marshall, fire control staff forester, Hiawatha National Forest, Escanaba, and Ray Chase, district ranger, Rapid River, attended a regional forest fire prevention and law enforcement training course in Milwaukee, Dec. 7-11. Men from the 11 national forests of the North Central Region, the conservation departments of Michigan, Wisconsin and Ohio, Isle Royale National Park, and the Ontario Department of Lands and Forests were present. Marshall was one of the instructors.

Marshall said that the forests on the Hiawatha National Forest will receive training in fire prevention and in fire investigation techniques in an attempt to reduce fires.

He said that forest fire occurrence and acreage burned have been reduced but that additional effort is needed to reduce it from the comparatively constant level of the last few years. He said that the pine stands are returning and forming a continuous fuel type and more logging is increasing the amount of slash, which is a hazardous fuel.

Fires caused by railroads received much attention. Marshall said that of the 27 man-caused fires within the Hiawatha Forest in 1964, five were caused by the railroads. Eighty per cent of all railroad fires start within 50 feet of the centerline of the railroad rights-of-way. Proper removal of inflammable material within this rights-of-way as required by Michigan law would eliminate most of these fires.

"Residents, both local and summer home, should give more attention to fire prevention," said Marshall. The escape of trash fires and children playing with matches at these homes are problems on the Hiawatha Forest. Some residents fail to get the required burning permits and crews and equipment must be dispatched. Costs will be collected from persons burning without a permit or from persons allowing fires to escape."

Aerial Fueling Record Broken

One of the most important support items of the accomplishment of the Air Force at K. I. Sawyer Air Force Base is the supply of fuel for the aircraft, accomplished by the base fuels section.

A new record amount of fuel pumped into aircraft was established recently. During the period from Nov. 23 to 25, a total of 1,162,987 gallons of jet fuel were pumped into Boeing B-52H Stratofortress bombers, Boeing KC-135 Stratotankers, and F-101 Voodoo fighter interceptors.

The F-101 aircraft was assigned to the 62d Fighter Interceptor Squadron, Air Defense Command here, while the B-52H and KC-135 are flown by members of the host Strategic Air Command Unit, the 410th Bombardment Wing.

"We normally pump an average amount in excess of 5 million gallons per month," stated Capt. Rodney Givens, base fuels officer. "This is a record amount for the period involved."

The fuel section personnel ran what they believe is another record on Nov. 16. For a 24-hour period on that day they had 99 fuel service runs on Sawyer aircraft.

The jet fuel used is supplied to the base by the Wade Terminal in Escanaba, which receives it by lake tankers, stores it in its big tanks and moves it by pipeline to the base as needed.

A REPLY TO THE TAXPAYERS

In Thursday's issue of the Escanaba DAILY PRESS there appeared a paid advertisement in the form of a message to the taxpayers concerning the school vote next Tuesday. This ad contained information and charges which we feel must be answered.

Every effort has been made to provide the voters with the facts surrounding the issue by means of appearances, radio, press, and invitations to direct questions to the administrative offices. Yet, there still seem to be those who do not have the facts or else have misinterpreted them.

No effort has been made to deny the cost of the tax issue to the district. In fact, on the very page carrying the ad in question there appeared a news story indicating the cost as being $226,912 yearly. However, it seems pointless to talk about a total cost to the community over the full five years of the issue. More to the point would seem to be the cost to you - the individual taxpayer. As has been stated many times, this would be $5.17 per $1,000 of assessed valuation in Escanaba, $5.00 per $1,000 assessed valuation in the township areas. In the City, this would average $17.77 per house.

Neither has any effort been made to deny the fact that the millage in question is "over and above" State Aid and the current tax rate for schools - 11.1 mills for operation and 3.61 mills for debt retirement. As for the statement that "there is little chance of it ever coming off" the tax rolls, it should be remembered that the millage in question is for a specific period of time and will come off after five years unless revoked by the people.

The full 4 1/2 mills being requested are needed at this time. The 4 mills are required to meet increased expenses for the purpose of trying to keep our program at present levels. The additional 1/2 mill is to repay over a five year period this year's deficit. This millage being requested will do more than just pay for teacher salary increases. It will also permit us to maintain present levels in supplies for classrooms and libraries and to carry out a reasonable maintenance program for our buildings and equipment.

Will our accreditation be jeopardized? It not only will be - it is. On April 15, 1964, we received a letter of "Second Warning from the North Central Association.

Why isn't the athletic program self-supporting? It usually is except for the supplemental salaries of coaches amounting to some $6,000 per year for all athletic coaching.

How about reimbursement from the State for transportation expense? For last year, reimbursement is expected in the amount of $31,878 as compared to a total cost of $76,311.

The fact that the 1964-65 budget was cut by some $95,000 hardly proves that lesser millage is acceptable. If additional millage is not available for next year, another large reduction can, and will, be made in expenditures. The important thing is the effect such reductions have on programs and services for our school children.

An issue is made of the possibility of receiving additional State and Federal funds. Additional State Aid is a possibility, but it certainly is not definite enough that next year's program can be planned around it. Federal Aid is even more uncertain. Most Federal programs are based on a 50-50 participating basis. This means we must have money to spend in order to receive Federal money. We most likely are going to have to pass up Federal funds this current year because we do not have local funds to use for matching.

There has been no refusal to answer questions concerning the schools as charged. In fact, the public has been given every opportunity to ask questions in public meetings and over the radio and answers have been given on the spot. As for the questions of the Escanaba Area Taxpayers' Association, one of the leaders of that organization spent most of a Saturday morning with school officials a short time ago asking questions. Another leader of the Taxpayers Association has been invited repeatedly to come into the school offices and go over questions he might have, but he has consistently refused with the answer "We have the facts".

Every effort has been made to approach this election in a truly American way. Substantiated facts have been given to the largest possible percentage of the population. Opportunity to ask questions has been given to all. Then the voter has been left with this admonition, "This is the situation. You - and only you - can decide how you must vote on this issue. You will have to decide whether the money discussed is more important than the alternatives." This does not seem to indicate that anyone feels the people are "too brainless to judge the school issues correctly."

All registered voters can vote in this election. The decision is in their hands. This is the American way. And it is also the American way to keep in mind the results of our decisions and be ready to live with them.

Candles Play Symbolic And Glamorous Role

The glow of candlelight casts an enchanting spell.

While it would be difficult to imagine daily living without electric lights, they are not as romantic or fascinating as candles. This is, of course, the reason why tapers, considered a symbol of gracious living, are used extensively at the dinner table.

During the holiday season they play an important role, not only as decorations, but in contributing to the feeling of reverence.

Throughout the land candles will burn brightly in churches and homes. In Medieval Europe the custom arose of lighting a giant candle that would burn continuously from Christmas Eve until Twelfth Night.

The selection of candles is wide this year. Delicately scented bayberry candles, big candles, or series of either tall and short ones all come in a variety of gay holiday hues. If you prefer, there are other tones to fit any color decor.

Tapers can be given an added festive touch with just a little imagination. Surround the base of the candles with fir branches and pine cones. Or, anchor two or three tall ones in a shallow ceramic dish, then arrange ivy or poinsettias around it.

Why not have a candle party this holiday season? Turn off the lights, and have only the flickering flames of firelight and candles to create a festive glow that will become a fond memory to those who share it with you.

Eskymos Nipped By Two Points At Stephenson

STEPHENSON — The Escanaba Eskymos were nipped 54-52 by Stephenson in Great Lakes Conference action here Friday night.

The defeat, Escanaba's sixth straight this season, came in the closing seconds of action after the Eskymos had led 31-25 at halftime.

Coach Guss Lord's Eagles rallied to knot the contest at 37-37 entering the final period. They outscored the Eskymos 12-6 in the third quarter.

A pair of free throws by Mickey Raboin gave Stephenson a 54-50 lead in the final minute of the contest. Dick Sivertsen cut it to 54-52 with a field goal. Raboin was fouled but missed the first of a 1-and-1 situation and the Eskymos rebounded with seconds remaining. They moved quickly downcourt and called a time out to set up a last-second play, but the clock ran out the final three seconds and the game was history.

The Eskymos lost four players on personal fouls and Stephenson won the game from the free throw line. The Eagles made good on 24 of 42 foul shots to erase Escanaba's 17 to 15 advantage in field goals. The Eskymos clicked in 18 of 31 opportunities from the line.

Stephenson's Jerry Hittman took scoring honors with 16 points and 6 foot 6 inch Ron Fredrickson came through with 15 for his best game of the season. Dave Bush, sharpshooting Stephenson guard, was held to one field goal by Sivertsen.

Sivertsen paced the Escanaba attack with 13 points, followed by Bob Haack with 10.

Escanaba had a 26 to 27 edge on the boards.

The Eskymo reserves won the jayvee game, 56-42.

Braves End String Against Newberry

GLADSTONE — The Gladstone Braves snapped their season long losing string here Friday night with an 84-59 Great Lakes Conference triumph over outclassed Newberry.

Coach Bill Wood's cagers had trouble getting off the floor in the early stages of the game and trailed 12-11 at the end of the first period. They were behind 18-11 in the early minutes of the second period before coming alive to take command of the contest.

After hitting on only five of 28 shots from the field in the first quarter, the Braves began finding the range and popped in 10 of 23 in the second period. They finished with a respectable 35 of 100 shots for the night, but Wood wasn't happy with the number of short shots missed by his cagers.

The Braves rolled into a 31-27 advantage at halftime and upped their point production to 22 in the third quarter before smashing the Indians with a 31 point blast in the finale.

In addition to their 35 field goals, the Braves hit on 14 of 20 shots from the foul line. Newberry made 21 of 63 from outcourt and 17 of 30 from the line.

Gladstone had all five starters in double figures for the first time this season. Rick Ebbesen took individual honors with 21 points. Mark Goodman and Bruce Hawkinson turned in outstanding performances as the Braves snapped their five game losing streak.

For Coach Jack Arduin's invading Indians, Hicks was the top gunner with 18 points. He tallied 16 of them in the first half.

In the preliminary, Gladstone's freshman team topped the Holy Name frosh, 50-41.

Boston College Faces Champion In Cage Finals

By The Associated Press

The Boston College Eagles, who seem to be going places in college basketball this season with the coaching of Bob Cousy, get their big chance tonight. They play UCLA, the national champions, in the final of the Milwaukee holiday classic.

John Austin's desperation jump shot from 35 feet out as the final buzzer sounded gave the Eagles a rousing 86-85 victory over Wisconsin in the opening round Friday night. UCLA beat Marquette 61-52 to qualify for the final.

Austin's fantastic shot, which he made while on a dead run, climaxed a rally that saw the Eagles come from 14 points back. The 6-foot-11 junior from Washington, D.C. finished with 36 points for a tournament record.

Gail Goodrich, who led UCLA with 21 points against Marquette, made an even longer field goal than Austin. He hit on a 45-footer as the first half buzzer sounded.

Kentucky, Illinois, North Carolina, Alabama, Vanderbilt, Oklahoma State, Arizona State, Murray State, Louisiana State and Evansville scored victories in other Christmas holiday extravaganzas.

Kentucky crushed West Virginia 102-78 and Illinois pulverized Dayton 104-86 in the University of Kentucky Invitational at Lexington, North Carolina edged Mississippi State 84-80 and Alabama walloped Virginia Tech 72-53 in the Virginia Tech Invitational at Blacksburg, Va. Rockets Trip Champion Five CHAMPION — The Rapid River Rockets gave a demonstration of how a fast break attack should work here Friday night enroute to an 84-73 decision over Champion.

Coach Bill McGovern's Rockets had a little trouble warming up and trailed 17-14 at the end of the first quarter. They shifted into high gear in the second period, however, and scored the nets with 31 points, many of them off their fast break.

Mike and Pat Larrabee combined for 19 points in that period and Doug Moss added 8. The teams were even from the free throw line but Rapid River canned 26 of 36 free throws off 24 Champion personals. Champion hit on 15 of 18 from the foul line.

The victory evened Rapid's record at 3-3.

Moss took individual scoring honors for the night with 29 points on 10 goals and nine free throws. Champion played without the services of John Danielson, sidelined with the mumps.

Champion won the jayvee preliminary, 48-46.

Shula, Collier To Coach Pros

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Don Shula, pilot of the Baltimore Colts and the National Football League's Coach of the year, and Blanton Collier of the Cleveland Browns were named Saturday to coach the Western and Eastern teams in the Pro Bowl game here Jan. 10.

Shula's Colts, winner of the Western Division title, and Collier's Eastern Division champs, meet in the NFL championship Dec. 27 in Cleveland.

It will be the first head coaching job in the Pro Bowl for both men.

The two squads are due to report in Los Angeles a week after the NFL title game.

Crusaders Tip Mustangs From 'Gift' Line, 52-46

The Holy Name Crusaders unwrapped an early Christmas "gift" from the Munising Mustangs here Friday night, defeating the Great Lakes Conference team 52-46.

The gift came at the charity line where Holy Name accepted 24 chances and made good on 12 of them. Munising had 19 opportunities and cashed in on only 6. The teams were even-up from the field, each connecting on 20 shots.

Holy Name closed out the pre-holiday portion of its schedule with five victories against one setback. The Crusaders will return to action on Jan. 8 in a home stand against the Kingsford Flivvers of the Menominee Range Conference.

THREE OFFICIALS

The Crusader game against Munising was worked by three referees in the first of a four-game experiment being conducted by Coach John Butrymowicz this season. The officials were Norm Slough of Rapid River and Ray Ranguette and Thor Reque of Manistique.

There were some ragged edges on the Crusader victory package last night. Coach John Butrymowicz's cagers were guilty of a steady string of floor faults, misjudgements and playing errors. Munising's pesky pressing defense had a lot to do with the Holy Name's troubles. The Mustangs also made their share of mistakes.

With four starters hitting in high double figures, the Emeralds scored on 45 percent of their shots from the field. They made 30 of 67.

It was the free throw line that made the big difference, however, as Manistique pumped in 23 of 31 opportunities. Outscored by only one field goal, the Model Towners were able to pick up only six more points from the charity line.

Jon Cameron took individual scoring honors for the Emeralds with 24 points while Darryl Carlson turned in the best game of his career. He tallied 22 points, including 10 of 11 free throws.

The Emeralds played without the services of Mike Gray, 6 foot senior starter, who is sidelined with a shoulder injury and will not be available until after the holidays.

Coach Jerry Erickson's Model Towners displayed a balanced attack with four players in double figures, headed by Ghiardi with 16 points.

Manistique won the jayvee game, 49-42.

Girl Hurt By Falling Pole

A six-year-old Rte. 1, Gladstone girl was injured in what State Police called a "freak" traffic accident Friday afternoon at Soo Hill School.

Police said Tina Garbe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Garbe, suffered a fractured knee when struck by a falling light pole in the school yard. She was reported in "good" condition today at St. Francis Hospital.

The accident happened when a car driven by Marion Van Drese of Rte. 1, Gladstone, struck a guy wire supporting the light pole, troopers said. The pole snapped, striking the girl when it fell.

Officers said Mrs. Van Drese had come to the school to pick-up her children at 3:20 p.m. and was turning the car around in the school yard when it hit the wire.

State Reforms On Spending For Campaigns Eyed

By JEAN WORTH
LANSING — Secretary of State James M. Hare, whose department handles Michigan's elections, is going to inform the new Legislature about reports on spending in the recent election campaign as a basis for hoped-for reforms.

At present, says Hare, Michigan has an ineffective law and system for reporting of election expenses. If the party treasurer lives out of the state, for instance, he needn't make any report at all. Some candidates report their spending, some don't.

Mayor Tells Vote Concern

Mayor George W. Rusch today issued an official statement expressing his concern over the election next Tuesday on millage for the Escanaba Area School District and urging a affirmative vote.

He stated: "As mayor of Escanaba, I consider it most necessary to make a statement regarding a matter of grave concern to our community. I have never become involved publicly in any school issue during my six years on the Escanaba City Council. However, since I consider the present school situation no longer only a school board problem but instead a serious community problem, I do not feel I can stand by silently and not express my convictions.

"The issues involved in this millage proposal are not: who or what group is right or wrong—whether or not past decisions have been correct or incorrect—whether or not taxes are excessive. The real issue that all citizens of Escanaba and the surrounding area must consider and vote on at this time is whether or not a school system is to operate and function properly. I might add, a school system in which each of you presently has an investment which must be protected.

"Emotions are running high, personalities have become involved, a variety of implications have clouded the real issue which is whether we are intelligent enough to allow a school system to operate and function properly. Objectivity and reasoning have been put aside in sizing up the problem. "This statement is meant as a sincere plea for approval of the operating millage which is so necessary in the day-to-day functioning of a school system. Operating funds are as necessary to a public-supported body as they are to a business, industry, or your own home.

I sincerely request the public to honestly and objectively reevaluate your reason and in clear conscience go to the polls and vote in the best interest of your community, Escanaba . . . vote Yes in the best interest of Escanaba."

his financial backers that he cannot serve the public interest if it conflicts with that of his contributors.

Hare reported that the 1964 campaign spending reported to his office totaled $665,565 for the Democrats and $883,157 for the Republicans. The spending, even in the incomplete reporting cited by Hare, shows a difference in party approaches to the election. The Democrats reported $184,715 spent on federal office efforts to elect the President and U.S. senator and $207,972 spent on state officers, while the Republicans in a party split over nominee Barry Goldwater reported spending only $50,708 on the federal offices and $307,122 on state offices.

The Democrats reported that $100,425 of their funds came from personal donations and $565,139 from committee efforts while the Republicans said they got $117,817 from individuals and $765,340 from committee efforts.

Hare cited a report in November Fortune magazine on the spending in the Democratic senator primary in California as an example of the problem that the whole nation faces in political spending control if the quality of representative government is not going to be affected by putting the candidate in front of his financiers.

Horne cited that Abe Lincoln's supporters raised $200 for his campaign for Congress and he spent only 75 cents of it (for a barrel of cider "which some farmhands insisted I should treat to") and returned the rest.

In contrast, Alan Cranston's campaign for the Democratic nomination in California cost about $1 million and wound up with a $332,000 deficit.

Cranston said he was distressed by the fact that much of the money spent on his campaign went not to communicate his ideas but to create an image of what campaign managers think the voters would like the candidate to be. Billboards he found limited to use of not more than 7 or 8 words, and television was generally regarded as the major medium, but "competing as it must with the entertainment to be seen on other channels, is believed to hold the attention for the most part only of those voters already convinced."

The campaign spent $250,000 on TV spot announcements so brief that viewers couldn't turn them out before they were over. Statements and actions by the candidates reported by the newspapers, TV and radio as news were the best means of getting to the voters, but controversial issues attracted the most attention and the more controversial they were and the more audience they attracted the more votes were lost.

Cranston suggests election spending report reform. "At present," he said "contributions can be made with little if any public knowledge about them. Full publicity on contributions would tend to lessen the amount one contributor would want to give, and the amount a candidate would want to receive from one source."

Hare suggests that the problem exists in Michigan as well as in California.

HERMANSVILLE—The Holy Name Society of St. Mary's Parish, Hermansville, met in the parish hall Wednesday evening and decided to undertake the project of making and installing book racks for the church pews.

Father Patrick Frankard, pastor, announced the Christmas services program. Plates to change the time schedules on the church highway signs have been ordered and will be installed when they arrive.

Election of officers will be held at the February meeting.

Negative Type Blood Needed By Blood Bank

There is a need for Negative Type blood by the Badger Blood Bank and such donors are asked to give at the procurement clinic to be held in Escanaba at the First Presbyterian Church from 2 to 7 p. m. Tuesday.

Only 16 per cent of the population has Negative Type blood and that type is therefore less plentiful. The Red Cross has been informed that this type is needed and that such donors are requested to give if they have not given for some time.

Donors may walk in at the clinic or they may call the Red Cross during morning hours for an appointment.

Soo Line Acts In Merger Plan

HICAGO (AP) — The Soo Line Railroad has asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to combine proceedings on proposed mergers of the Chicago Great Western Railway and the Chicago North Western.

The Soo Line also asked for a combination of proceedings on the merger proposal involving the North Western and the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad.

The Soo Line further requested the ICC to require additional information on the merger plans of the North Western and their impact on other railroads as well as the public interest. The Soo asked the commission to "impose conditions" on the mergers to "fully protect the Soo's financial and competitive position."

Last year the Soo Line terminated studies of a possible merger with the Chicago, Great Western. Both lines operate in the Midwest and are large carriers of agricultural products.

The Soo Line has 4,200 miles of track in Michigan, Wisconsin, North Dakota, Minnesota, South Dakota, Illinois and Montana.

Post Office To Deliver Sunday, Windows Closed

Escanaba Postmaster James E. Pryal said today that "both regular mail and parcel post will be delivered Sunday."

Office windows at the Post Office building, however, will not be open, Pryal said.

"Mail is running extremely heavy," Pryal said. "In the two weeks starting Dec. 5 we have processed 120,000 pieces more than we did in a corresponding period last year."

Despite the increase, Pryal said that the department had been able to handle this year's Christmas mail at less expense than last year because most people mailed earlier.

"At no time has the department been so rushed that it has had to pay excessive overtime," he said.

The December boy wore an angel costume indicating how good boys can be at Christmas time.

Group singing was led by Mrs. Robert Bell. "Silver Bells" dramatized by Cub Scouts and a poem, "Bark River," was given by Mrs. Roger Quist, Den Mother. The Cub Scouts displayed their gifts for the parents, miniature sleighs with greens and cones, wooden blocks with pictures of the boys, "Chip Off the Old Block," tie racks for fathers and recipe books for mothers.

Auto Inspection Plan Outlined

LANSING (AP) — Michigan State University's Highway Traffic Safety Center advised Gov. George Romney this week how a vehicle inspection program could operate in Michigan.

The report was the result of a study of states which have such programs. The center said periodic vehicle inspections in Michigan "could contribute significantly to traffic accident prevention."

It proposed:

1. All owners be required to have their vehicles inspected at least once annually.
2. Inspections performed at qualified, state-authorized, privately-owned garages, repair shops and eligible service stations, and by certified mechanic-inspectors.
3. The state police commissioner administer and supervise the program.
4. A proposed fee of $2.25 would be charged, of which $2 would go to the garage for labor costs and $.25 to the state for administration. Eventually the program would be self-sustaining.
